Son Stolen 25 Years Ago Is Found Boyhood Life Spent With Indians

BERLIN, July 1.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Germany has not liquidated American private or business property, says Von Delbrueck, acting minister of justice, told the Associated Press correspondent today. He declared that Germany did, on March 1912, issue a ruling whereby the liquidation was permitted because America already had done the same. While America carried out this liquidation measure, the minister said that Germany never did so, but, on the contrary, merely regulated the administration of American property. "When this administration is removed, the Americans will have their free property again," said Herr Von Delbrueck.

"In no single case has Germany touched or violated American property," continued the minister. "In the case of patents we distributed licenses for their use by Germans in free cases but we never declared American patents null or expired. American patents and trademarks might be limited in Germany by an act of January 3, 1915, if it lay in the public interest and a German could have, under certain circumstances, a license to use an American patent. This order was issued because America, long before, had passed a similar law and operated it in general. Germany was particularly hesitating in all these questions, notwithstanding America passed a pretentious law of this kind, because Germany hopes to be able soon to resume friendly business relations with the United States."

The ministry of justice quoted A. Mitchell Palmer, formerly American property custodian in Germany, as having declared in his report to the United States Senate in February last that Germany had done the same as America in liquidating alien property but had not been able to do so. "It is false to say that Germany proceeded America and correct to say that Germany only used retaliation," said the minister.

uncover in an attempt to find him and know more of the incident he had. But he was a stranger to her, just one of the men in uniform who were entertained. Over at Letterman hospital, however, there were some Idaho men, and hither Mrs. Denley went. She found one man who suggested that she write to the Indian agent in Idaho. The long correspondence was begun. Its end was the return of her son.

BABY STOLEN AND DESERTED BY WHITE PEOPLE.

The boy's story? He was only a babe of six months when he was stolen from his mother's bedside. It is tradition among the Indians which give the tale.

A white woman and two white men appeared at Laylaw Ferry in the summer of 1895 and asked to hear a baby with the Indians for a few days. But the Indians had children of their own. They shrugged and went away. The little child, however, disappeared. So the child, a little bundle of skin and bones, was cared for by a young squaw, who had a babe of her own, and once again was raised. When the Indians made their annual hunting trip they left the strange child with a family of whites who were living on their allotted land. Once again the baby was lost. A white woman tried to enter the boy in orphan asylums in Maine, but lacking the proper papers the admission was refused. So it was brought back to Kossuth Ferry and the story was told that she had obtained it from an orphanage in the East.

SQUAW MAN TRAPPER.

A squaw man by the name of Wilson had a cow. He wanted the white boy. The barter was completed. Thus was Howard Wilson christened. The old Indian woman was kind. He was adopted into the Nezperce tribe that rations might be drawn for him. When Wilson drank he beat the old woman and abused the boy. The child grew to manhood, silent and patient and taking thought of the squaw who had befriended him. She was the only mother he ever knew and the one person who had been kind to him.

After a few years she was killed to him when she died and to reverence her memory he built a more magnificent tombstone over her grave than had ever been seen in that part of the country before. It is a comfortable little fortune he has acquired himself. But twice has he been outside of Idaho—once when he went to Seattle to volunteer under the colors of his country and once to Portland. Army physicians sent him back to his mountain home. The service could not use men with a bad heart. He has only had such an education as comes on an Indian reservation.

"I AM COMING."

MOTHER WINKS HER SON.

"I am coming," wined Mrs. Denley. Howard Wilson, raised in the hills by Indians, was frightened. Perhaps the white mother would not like him when she saw what manner of man he was. He was shy and modest. He did not know much of a mother's love. "Train after train he met and still she did not arrive. He grew hopeless. One Saturday night he refused to go to the train. He refused to change from his overalls. He did not want to be disappointed again. But when the smoke of the locomotive curled up from the canyon he rushed into his "best" and was there when it came steaming in. It was two days later—on July 12—that Mrs. Denley arrived. It was a strange meeting. On the mother's part the tiny, helpless infant with its innocent stare and its rosy flesh had grown into a stalwart, hard-fisted, sun-burned, silent man, whom she did not know. On the son's part, it was wonder and dread and a strange embarrassment before the tiny, slender, sud-eyed woman.

"I believe I can call you mother," was his first good-night to her. "I do not like the city," he told her, pointing upon his mountains and streams and sky.

But he is selling his land and herd. He is putting away his past in Laylaw Ferry, in Kossuth, and among the Cherokees. He arrived home on Friday. As soon as he can her son will join her because he must be near his mother. In a year or so the name of Howard Wilson even will have disappeared. That cannot be until the last Indian allotment is made in 1920, when he comes into his inheritance from the squaw who loved him so that she gave him all she possessed.

"You will not mind," he soothed the mother. "That I am Howard Wilson until I get a little used to things. Then I will be Robert Denley again."

U.S. BOYS ARE SWINDLED IN LAND SCHEME

$1228 WHARF FEES PAID TO STOP LAWSUIT

BOISE, Ida., July 26.—The Arco country, in Butte county, Idaho, where returned soldiers have been colonized, has been strongly condemned by a commission of experts supplied by the University of Idaho, at the request of Governor Davis, to investigate dairy farming possibilities in that locality.

According to O. P. Barber, commissioner of immigration, who accompanied the commission on its tour of investigation, the country is not the only thing deserving of condemnation.

Returned soldiers, Mr. Barber said, have been located on 320 acres of solid lava or gravel or mountain-side (that is characterized by the commission as being absolutely useless for farming or grazing purposes). There are not only a few such claims, but a number of them. The commission did not find a single place upon which a filing had been made or which was pointed out to them by those doing the colonizing, which they would recommend any one to go upon to make a living.

Steps are being taken to prevent the collection of notes signed by the soldier homesteaders in payment for location fees. How many of these notes are in existence is not known, but it is presumed that they will total several thousand dollars.

The Union Pacific railroad company, through Joel L. Priest, general agent for the state, denied that the railroad company had done any colonizing in the Arco section. Mr. Priest said that the advertising and colonization had been done by a local company and that the only part taken by the railroad company was in transporting the men in the usual course of its business.

Following investigations by City Wharfing W. H. Masterson, in which he reported that he had discovered that more than $1200 worth of dockage fees due the city had been withheld by incorrect freight manifests, the Bee Line Transportation company today settled the claim by payment of $1228.50 into the city treasury. Assistant City Attorney Leon E. Gray had filed suit, which is settled by the payment.

According to Masterson he had noted that under a former management of the company more freight was being carried over the city street wharf than was accounted for. Unable to get accurate figures on this, he made an "arbitrary" guess of $200 as the fees last owing. Employees of the place, questioned, admitted the incorrect manifests, and suit was filed through the city attorney's office.

The company then offered to pay the fees on condition that the money be spent by the city in improving their property, which is leased city property. City Attorney H. L. Hagan agreed to agree to this. The filing of the suit the company agreed to pay the disputed fee claim, settling in full, and paying costs of the action to date. The money goes into the general fund as "dockage income."

Napa-Vallejo Road is Nearly Completed

EUREKA, July 26.—Christian II. Denmark was shot and killed by James A. Campbell at Eel Rock, ninety miles south of Eureka. Campbell sent word to the sheriff's office here that he was ready to surrender. Both men are ranchers and the shooting was said to have followed the charge that Denmark had sown mustard seed on Campbell's land.

VALLEJO, July 26.—The highway between Vallejo and Napa will be completed and thrown open to traffic in a few days, according to engineers at work on the road. Motorists using the road yesterday were compelled to detour only for a short distance immediately in the rear of the Coronado property at the Three-Mile House and returned to the highway within a quarter of a mile. The new road will cut off the long stretch of bad road through the foothills and greatly reduce the travelling time.

BAD CHECKS CASHED.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—Using the checks of the Security Bank of Oakland, a soldier giving the name of Sergeant George Tremaine cashed a number of worthless checks on the local merchants, his latest victim being the Weeks-Hall-Emerson Company, 90 Market street, which cashed a check for $33 yesterday.

AGED COLORED MAN IS LYNCHED

By HENRY ORPHAL

Exclusive cable despatch to the International News Service and London Daily Express.

BERLIN, July 26.—At a meeting of idle workmen in Leipzig, it was decided that the Germans guilty of the war shall help rebuild northern France and Belgium. The Leipsigers will leave the country as their answer to the government's plea for work.

There is general opposition among the workmen against working in the allied countries and it is even rumored that the government is negotiating with China to hire 30,000 Chinese for the work.

The government has not yet solved the problem and is hesitating to proclaim industrial conscription for fear it would prove unsuccessful. The government is believed to go too weak to enforce conscription and opposition on the right and left and political factions opposed to the government is increasing in strength.

AUTO FALLS OFF BRIDGE.

SHERIDAN, Wyo., July 26.—Dr. J. Robinson of Chicago was killed, Dr. J. J. Brown of Dickinson, N. D., was probably fatally injured and William Kostetky, of Dickinson, was seriously hurt when a motor car ran off a bridge near Kaycee, Wyo. The car was on the way to Casper from Sheridan to attend a meeting of the directors of an oil company.

TRAMPLED BY STEER.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 26.—Fred Stone, well known comedian and former cowboy, had a narrow escape from possible death when a steer he had just "bulldozed" turned on him at the annual Frontier Days celebration. He was saved by cowboys after he had been trampled on but not seriously hurt.

CORKSCREW DEMAND LEASES.

HONOLULU, July 26.—The annual report of Governor C. J. McCarthy to the Secretary of the Interior, for the year ending June 30, 1918, has just been made public here. Governor McCarthy estimates the population of the territory at 254,000, an increase of 6,271, or 2.5 per cent since 1910, when the last official census was taken. Honolulu is estimated to have a population of 75,000, the total population of Hawaii that was taken in 1910, according to the governor's estimate, 28,000 Hawaiians or part Hawaiians, 20,000 Filipinos, 22,000 Chinese and 42,000 divided among the various races. Figures are not given for Koreans and other Asiatic races.

Exports for the fiscal year exceeded $1,000,000, with the imports aggregating $11,774,718. Sugar to the value of more than $70,000,000 was exported, with pineapples taking second place. The governor called attention to the fact that in recent years the Philippines have been the chief source of labor for Hawaiian plantations.

The birth rate for the territory is given as 36.71 per 1000. Board of Health statistics show that the Japanese birth rate in Hawaii is 42.8 per 1000. These figures recall the prediction a few years ago by ex-Governor L. E. Pinkham, that within 20 years voters of Japanese parentage would control the political destinies of Hawaii.

NEW YORK, July 26.—Details of the lynching at Milan, Ga., May 24, of Berry Washington, 72 years of age, a negro, for having killed John Dandy, a white man, in defense of two young negro women, reported by dispatches from Atlanta, were contained in the report of a negro clergyman whose name was withheld, made public here recently by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The clergyman's report stated that at 1 o'clock on May 24, Dandy and another white man went to the negro section of the town and demanded entrance to the home of a negress with two daughters. Admission was refused, the clergyman stated, and Dandy fired a shot through the door. The girls fled to the home of a neighbor.

The white men, the report continued, chased the girls, who hid under the porch. When the girls refused to come out, the men broke down the door and started tearing up the floor. The women became frightened and jumped into a well, while her children screamed for help.

Washington, the affidavit stated, ran out of the house with a shotgun in his hand and when asked by the white men what he wanted he is reported to have said: "To see what is the matter with the women and children."

Dandy, the negro minister alleged, threatened to kill Washington, but he later fired and killed Dandy, while the other man ran away.

Washington gave himself up to the police, the report said, and was lodged in McCree jail. At midnight two of 15 or 16 men took Washington out of jail and carried him to Milan, where he was lynched over the spot where Dandy was killed. He was hanged to a post and his body riddled with bullets.

POLICE SEEKING DARING BURGLARS

INSURANCE CLAIM LEADS TO ARREST

Police inspectors are today investigating three burglaries in which thieves got articles of jewelry and clothing last night.

Several pawns and a collection of jewelry was taken at the residence of Grace Lemmer, 750 Ninth street, where the robbery was committed. The burglar, who robbed L. Leber's home, 920 Tenth street, was luckier, as he got several dollars in currency, some jewelry and some of Leber's clothes.

A small amount of money was the only thing missing from the place of Joseph Knopf, 2042 Broadway, after the burglar's night visit.

The casing thief, who has stolen many automobiles in the last few days, picked Fred Hamilton, 3737 Thirteenth avenue for his victim. The casing was stolen from Hamilton's car, standing on Keweenaw street near Broadway.

Mrs. M. Little, 1611 Francisco street, Berkeley, reported some one had stolen her fur coat from the women's room at the Sixth street market.

Theft of a watch and chain from a locker at the California cotton mills was reported by Ellenworth Nelson, 3229 Adeline street, Berkeley.

Charged with having made insurance claims for losses he did not suffer, John Emerson, an electrician employed at Coast Island, and formerly an Oakland resident, was arrested today in San Francisco, and is held by the San Francisco authorities in lieu of $5,000 bail. A fire at his former home, 568 14th street, Oakland, is the cause of the arrest.

After the fire, according to the San Francisco police, who with Detective William Kyle of the Oakland arson squad worked on the case, Emerson is accused of having filed insurance claims for the loss of tools and personal effects. The tools were later located by the San Francisco authorities, together with Kyle and Inspector George Powers of Oakland, at 6291 Vallejo street, San Francisco, and the "lost" personal effects were found, the police say, in the Wilson hotel, across the bay. Emerson's arrest followed.

Further investigation is being made as to the cause of the blaze. A complaint has been sworn to by a local insurance company interested in the case.

$204.85, TAX ON BEANS, REFUNDED

After more than a year of appeals and litigation, Adolph Koshland of San Francisco has been awarded a refund of $204.85 in taxes paid under protest last year on 2,000 bags of beans, which were stored in a warehouse across the street during the recent season for assessment.

In March, 1918, the government, which was in need of beans to feed American soldiers overseas, commandeered Koshland's supply. Coincident with this action the assessor appeared on the scene and wanted to know who was going to pay the taxes on the beans. Koshland declined to pay, maintaining that the beans were stored under government orders. The government agent said he would not pay, as the government is exempt from such taxes.

The question arose as to whether the beans were privately owned or government controlled at noon on March 1, 1918, the hour that determines assessments on property.

Koshland feared that he was going to lose his beans. The government had not paid him, so he took his troubles direct to the federal authorities, who advised him to pay the taxes and send the bill to Uncle Sam.

This was done and the government took over Koshland's beans at the market price. The receipted tax bill that Koshland showed to government officials availed him naught and he made an appeal to the city officials for a refund.

Double Reserves for Serb Forces Reported

LONDON, July 26.—Serbian forces have suffered casualties of 100 killed and 200 wounded in fighting with Slovene troops, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch received from Vienna, this afternoon.

The dispatch also stated that the Croatians have been successful in driving the Serbs out of Agram. The Croatians are endeavoring to break away from the Serbian government and establish a Croatian republic.

BRIG PRISONERS WILL RETURN FOR NEXT WAR

NEW YORK, July 26.—A sergeant of the coast guard entered the office of Captain Frederick L. Carden at the bare office this morning and saluted.

"A note from the brig, sir," he said.

The captain read the note. It said: "Gone, but not forgotten. Will return for the next war."

"The whole bunch gone?" inquired the captain.

"No, sir. Two of them left, sir."

The brig is located on the third floor of the bare office. Five prisoners escaped during the night by cutting the wire screening over the windows and climbing down a rope.

WARDEN TAKES OVER HAUL OF BABY SALMON

ASTORIA, Ore., July 26.—The purse snatching craft, Chinook, brought in 250 young chinook salmon from 16 to 18 inches in length that tipped the scales at 720 pounds, an average of less than three pounds each. The fish were confiscated by Deputy Fish Warden Larson, who placed them in cold storage pending receipt from the department of instructions as to what charge shall be filed.

Captain Antonio Mardich, master of the craft, said he released fully 2,000 young fish from his seine before picking it up. The report collected today by Deputy Larson stated that the water outside the mouth of the river was strewn with thousands of dead baby salmon which had apparently been killed and thrown away.

On Oakland street cars and at crowded corners, Willie Grayford was today arrested by Police Inspectors Tom Gallagher and Tom Woods at 14th and Clay streets.

SHE PAID ARMY MAN'S BILLS TO PROTECT NAME

PORTLAND, Ore., July 26.—Miss Lois Finch, who was arrested and released in connection with bogus check charges against Captain Richard Gilkison of the army air service, produced a number of bills today which she said she had paid for the captain to save his good name while she thought she was his wife.

She professed surprise that when G. W. Gilkison, financial manager of the Pacific States Telephone Company, San Francisco, paid $144 to quiet the bad check charge and obtain his son's release, he did not remunerate her for bills running up to $400 which she said she had paid.

RUNNING A HOUSEHOLD IS A BUSINESS

Is yours run on business principles?

Wise buying is the first step to success in any business. So is it the first requirement for a household to be well conducted on an economical basis. Big business concerns have purchasing agents who are experts in knowing what, when and where to buy. They study goods and concerns which have goods to sell. They watch the markets. They read carefully the advertisements of concerns in their particular lines.

The manager of a household must be purchasing agent for a large proportion of the family needs. She should be familiar with stores and merchandise. She should run her business on business principles in order to make the most of the family income.

Information is the basis for intelligent purchasing. And the right way to get the greatest amount of necessary information is to read advertisements.

Advertising today is the voice of business. Advertisements tell you what is new and good in merchandise; they reveal improvements and inventions; they give you information about things that are useful and interesting.

Every manager of a household—every person in the household who shares the responsibility for the family's welfare—should make a practice of reading advertisements.

U.S. TO WAGE WAR AGAINST MUN PEDDLERS

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Efforts to prevent smuggling of arms and munitions into Mexico from the United States are to be redoubled, this was made known today at the State Department after publication of a proclamation signed by the President on July 12 restoring to the State Department control over shipments of munitions to the southern republic which was invested in the war trade board during the war.

President Wilson, in his proclamation, referred to conditions of domestic violence in Mexico, "promoted by the use of arms or munitions of war produced in the United States and wanted citizens of this country that any violations of the laws passed by Congress in 1912 and 1917 regarding shipments of munitions would be vigorously prosecuted."

Under the present exceptions and limitations to the application of laws against shipments of munitions was delegated to the secretary of war by the President. It was said, however, that no new policy was in contemplation as the United States had been permitting shipments to go through to the Carranza government from the time of the war.

Before the United States entered the war, Mexico purchased a large quantity of munitions here, and it was from this supply that the Mexican authorities, however, have complained that shipments were not permitted to come through in sufficient quantity to enable the government to prosecute vigorously its campaign against bandits and last week Ygnacio Bonillas, the Mexican ambassador, requested that his government be permitted to purchase airplanes and munitions. So far as has been announced no action has been taken on this request.

ELECTRIC ROADS TELL GRIEVANCES

WASHINGTON, July 26.—The American Electric Railway Association has completed the evidence it desires to present to the Federal Electric Railways Commission appointed by President Wilson to investigate the financial stress to which companies throughout the country are being subjected.

More than fifty witnesses were heard, including operating officials, receivers for bankrupt roads, bankers, economists and manufacturers, virtually all of whom agreed that the increased costs of labor and maintenance had put the electric lines in an embarrassing position under their present operating conditions.

Many differences of opinion arose, however, as to the best method of meeting the situation, some urging increased federal relief from taxation and a few municipal ownership.

The commission adjourned until August 1 when major testimony will be heard in local transportation, and labor union representatives will be heard.

Dr. Thomas Conway, Jr., of the University of Pennsylvania, occupied much of yesterday's session discussing labor costs, which he said were about 20 per cent higher. Employees of street railways should come to understand that the companies have a responsible part in their affairs and that the workers should not deal with their employers as with "enemy aliens."

Estuary Tube Possibility Studied Oakland-Alameda Subway Urged

ALAMEDA, July 26.—The approaching return of the Southern Pacific to its owners, the steadily growing shipping traffic of Oakland harbor, the coming of the Pacific fleet and the general growth of the entire east bay region, has once more turned public attention towards the need of better communication between Oakland and Alameda.

The business bridge project is waiting for the time when the Southern Pacific will be in a position to take definite action, the Alameda city planning commission has taken up the problem of harbor bridges and harbor subway.

The Oakland harbor subway construction is believed to be the ultimate solution of proper communication between Alameda and Oakland. A number of new subway undertakings have been successfully carried out in the east since the Oakland harbor subway matter was taken up here and temporarily side-tracked in favor of the bascule bridge.

Recent subway construction, and the fact that City Manager C. E. Hewes and City Engineer Hickok of Alameda are both students of subway development and are members of Alameda city planning commission, cause the planning commission to believe that the present is an excellent time to secure such additional information as may be available.

City Manager Hewes, discussing a report that he favored a subway instead of a bascule bridge, said: "The Alameda city planning commission is not opposing the bascule bridge proposition particularly, but I think the time is opportune to gather fresh data on costs of construction of both bridge and tube. I presume that all engineers and many other close observers of the actual conditions confronting Alameda and Oakland feel certain that a tube is the most satisfactory and permanent solution. We do not know whether a bridge can be built cheaper than a subway or not. We do know that a bridge will but partially serve the demand, I think it is true beyond question that the public transportation interests concerned prefer a tube to a bridge.

One suggestion which has been brought out of late and which seems to me at least worth looking into, is that the subway be not constructed under the harbor, but that large cement sections of a great tube be constructed at the Government Island ship yard, towed on barges to the selected place and sunk in the harbor in proper position after the harbor bottom has been dredged to the required depth. It is submitted that such a plan of tube construction might prove as economical as the building of an adequate bridge.

The city planning commission has not data on the cost of such tube construction, but the idea readily commends itself to the attention of engineers, and this is why the city planning commission has taken up the subject. I wish to emphasize that the commission is not advocating the abandonment of the bridge plan and the substitution and a tube for the bridge, but is desiring for such information as we may be able to secure at this time, so we may be in position to know exactly what is best to do.

"The Commission had no idea of making public announcement just now as it has not material facts at hand on which to take definite stand. But as there is some confusion and misunderstanding regarding the subway and bridge study by the commission, it is well to explain just what the commission is doing and has in view."

Shantung Return Is Japan Plan Tokyo Is Watching U. S. Senate

TOKYO, Wednesday, July 23. (By The Associated Press.)—Kenji Yashizawa, former councillor of the Japanese legation at Peking, left here today for the Shantung peninsula to conduct a special investigation of conditions there preparatory to negotiations with China for the return of its sovereignty over the territory controlled by Japan under the German peace terms. The negotiations for the return of the territory are being initiated after ratification of the peace treaty by the privy council which officials said they expected would take place before September 15.

Much interest is displayed by officials here in the inquiry made in the United States Senate by Senator W. E. Borah of Idaho regarding the negotiations at the peace conference which resulted in the Shantung agreement.

Japan, it is understood, is having difficulty in inducing China to discuss the Shantung question. Failure of the Chinese delegation at Paris, it is said, to sign the peace treaty, is proving to be a source of embarrassment.

STRIKE LOOMS ON CHICAGO LINES ORDERS ISSUED TO RELEASE HAYWARD

CHICAGO, July 26.—A strike of employees of Chicago surface and elevated railway lines, which would virtually paralyze the electric transportation system of Chicago, seemed appreciably nearer this afternoon when representatives of the unions walked out from a conference convened to arrive at a basis for settlement of existing disputes.

The men declared further parleys with the street car companies and the State Public Utility Commission were useless and that the situation would be put up to the membership of the unions.

If the men persist in their present attitude it is likely that a strike will become effective within the next twenty-four hours.

CHICAGO, July 26.—Orders for the release of W. D. ("Big Boy") Hayward, a W. W. leader, from Fort Leavenworth prison were issued today by the clerk of the circuit court of appeals, following approval of bonds offered.

'MURDERERS,' SHOUT GERMAN SOCIALISTS

LONDON, July 26.—Wild scenes during which Socialists jumped to their feet shouting "Murderers!" at the conservatives, marked the speech of Finance Minister Matthias Erzberger in the German national assembly at Weimar, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen today.

There was tremendous uproar when Erzberger declared that "for four years Germany has been under a military dictatorship." The conservatives charged with responsibility for the continuation of the war and the ultimate defeat of Germany.

DRY LAW BOOSTS STRAWBERRY COST

PHILADELPHIA, July 26.—Prohibition indirectly produced an extraordinary condition in the strawberry market this year.

Prices went higher than ever before because a Chicago packing house opened what was said to be the largest fruit preserving plant in the world in the heart of the strawberry district of Delaware county on the eastern shore of Maryland and bought the product of great berry-producing fields virtually without regard to cost to meet the tremendous demand for strawberry drinks produced by the "dry" period.

Strawberries that normally sold for from 5 to 10 cents a quart were snapped up at from 30 to 37 cents. The price to the consumer never went below 30 cents this season. Strawberry syrup for flavoring water formerly sold at 65 cents a gallon is now quoted at $3.50 a gallon.

Farmers are elated. Many of them made an average of $1000 an acre on their strawberry crop and they are looking forward to big profits next year.

The packers, when the strawberry season was over, sent their employees to other work and closed the factory.

WOMAN FAINTS AS COURT FREES HER

Proven guilty today on a charge of violating the city curfew ordinance, Rose Gard, arrested at the instance of Chief Glesler, wealthy young citizen of Sweden, collapsed in her chair in Police Judge George Samuels' courtroom. The woman swooned and fell to the floor, unconscious. A crowd of people could hear her and State Senator Frank M. Carr, her attorney, with the aid of the court bailiff, carried her out of the courtroom. She recovered a few minutes later.

Glesler caused the arrest of the Gard woman, charging that he had been lured out of $9000 in the court was not clear. C. Perry, at 1321 Telegraph avenue, Perry has not been located by the police and has been declared a fugitive from justice. A country-wide search is being conducted for him. It is thought that Perry fled to the Glesler, but other residents of Oakland, it is claimed that Perry, either alone or with other members of an organized band of felons, gathered in a $50,000 harvest before detection.

The defense today proved to the satisfaction of the court that Rose Gard was not a prostitute, but acted as her agent, and that she shared nothing of his ill-gotten winnings. Her salary was $300 monthly, it was declared. She will be used as a witness for the city if Perry is brought back here in custody.

One of the effects of the recess probably will be longer life for 2.75 per cent beer. It is not considered likely the Senate will pass the prohibition amendment bill before the House recesses. Following that an effort will be made to repeal taxes on soda water and ice cream, as promised by the Republican steering committee.

Legislation providing for deportation of enemy aliens will be taken up at time permits.

Scented Fear

by AHMED ABDULLAH.

"What did he say to him?" Taylor smiled reminiscently. "O'Brien, the hotel detective, insists that Strang was nutty, for he offered him ten thousand dollars—in cash, mind you; no phony checks!—and all O'Brien would have to do would be to kill on sight whatever Arab wandered into the neighborhood which was for rent at once. That was velvet for Denton, for he owns an apartment house and there had been one apartment empty for over three months. He offered to take Strang right round and show him the place, but all Strang cared about was that he should be allowed to supervise personally the paper hanging and whatever else the place needed. Of course Denton agreed, and they arranged a date for that same afternoon."

"Was that the apartment which Strang took—where he lived?"

"Yes."

"Did he actually supervise the work while the walls were being papered and all that?" "I don't know. I didn't bother about that after I talked to Strang." "Oh, yes. What happened when you talked to him?" "Well, I went around to the Powhatan and met him."

"How, since he seemed so secretive and suspicious?"

"There are tricks in every trade," spoke up Dorothy Patton, laughing. "Don't you tell him, Johnny. Tom may be a good detective, but he isn't a reporter."

"All right," said Berkley, with a smile. "You got to him somehow. Talked to him in his room, I suppose?"

"No, outside of his room. I made believe I was the hotel manager, and then it—"

"All right. Now I get you. What happened then?"

"He came out to the corridor. There was nobody about there at the time. And he made an awful row when he saw that it was a trick and that I was a reporter and wanted an interview for the intelligence. He called me all sorts of names and threatened me with his fists, and I was about to beat a swift and undignified retreat when, quite suddenly, he turned as white as a sheet. His breath came in gasps. He clutched my arm and cried 'Look! Look!' pointing, and falling in a dead faint. I drew him inside of his room very quickly, acting on instinct."

"What about the persons at whom he pointed?" "They did not seem to see him—they were turning the farther corner of the corridor."

"All right. You drew him into his room. And then?" "I did the regular thing—slapped his hands, moved his arms up and down, poured water on his forehead, and finally I got him back to consciousness. For a while he did not speak; seemed utterly confused. Then he seemed to remember what had happened. He begged me to keep quiet about the incident, not to say a word to my newspaper, not even to mention his name. He made me give him my word of honor that I—"

"How?" Taylor blushed. "I—I was hard up, Mr. Berkley," he said, "and my little sister was sick. I needed the money."

"You mean he paid you for keeping quiet?" "Yes, he did. He paid me—handsomely. I—"

"That's all right. I understand. Go on with your tale."

"I gave him my word of honor—"

"With the stipulation that you could spill the story in case he died through accident or murder?"

"Yes."

"And now who was the man at whom he pointed—the man who scared him into a fainting fit?" "You wouldn't believe me, Mr. Berkley."

"Sure I would. He was an Arab?" "Yes, yes, one of them; but the other—you see, there were two—"

"The other was Professor Carr, stairs, of the Museum of Natural History. Isn't that right?"

"How—how did you guess?" stammered Johnny Taylor, torn between admiration and curiosity.

"I didn't guess. I know. For on with Strang and I went on his last motor trip. My car was stopped in the crush near an entrance to Central park, and—well, Strang saw Carr and the Arab together, next to a girl in red, pointed at them, cried, and nearly fainted. He asked his cigar. 'Thanks, Taylor,' he said. 'I'll keep my word. You shall get the story as soon as I have it complete.'"

"Let's go to my office," he said to Dorothy Patton, after the reporter had left. "It's after midnight, and by this time Snyder and McGarra ought to have something to report about our friend Jim."

"It was on the way up to his office that the detective explained one little detail about which heretofore he had been silent to Dorothy Patton."

"But," she replied, when he had finished, "the thing is so infinitesimal."

"I know, Dorothy, but even the minutest detail can assume—does assume—grave proportions when it comes to murder. Remember what Johnny Taylor said about Strang telling Denton he wished to supervise the redecoration of his apartment personally."

"Perhaps it was a mere whim?" "People like Strang do not give in to whims. They do everything because of a sound, driving reason. Even so, there's one thing which is bothering me," he added, half to himself, and Dorothy knew him too well to ask further questions.

They reached the office ten minutes later, and found McGarra and Snyder waiting outside the door. Berkley was utterly taken aback when he listened to the first words of McGarra.

"Did you see him leave town?" asked the plain-clothes man.

"Not one of the museum employees told me. Are you sure, man," he added excitedly.

"I am positive, Mr. Berkley," McGarra turned for confirmation to his colleague, Snyder, who inclined his head and said that it was so.

"Yes, sir; there isn't a doubt about it. Mac and I trailed him to the Museum of Natural History."

"How long ago was that?" asked the detective.

"A little over two hours, sir. Around 10 in the evening, I should say."

Even so, Berkley stuck to his guns. The thing was too incredible, too fantastic.

"But the museum is dark," he objected. "It closes at 6 every evening. I believe; and unless there is a lecture on which is not the case tonight, nobody is on the premises except that except the janitor, the janitor's wife, I guess, and a couple of night watchmen."

"Yes, sir. I know, but—"

"And did the janitor let the prize fighter in?" Did he seem to know him, perhaps to expect him?"

Although there are many excellent varieties of pastes and polishes on the market it is interesting to put up one's own. Here are a few recipes for pastes and polishes which can be made at little cost.

A Letter-Play by Richard Wightman

The Kind Lady Performs

To J. O. B. Homeland. We have a Kind Lady in Homeland. She is very, very young—about 10. It is worth going a mile to see her smile. When people are in trouble they go to her instinctively, and when their trouble is too great for that she goes to them—no matter how far, no matter what time of day or night.

Her business seems to be the Lessening of Woe and she tends strictly to her business.

For instance: The Fresh Air Fund wanted to send 15 tenement children to Homeland homes for two weeks in August. They were wretched little boys and girls whose main hot-weather joys were to suck big penny-pickles and stand where the water from melting ice, left for a few minutes on the sidewalk, could trickle over their hot feet. A local committee was appointed and started in to find homes for them—for two weeks.

Things went slow. Homeland had never had any of these children before and Homeland is very conservative. The homes were hard to open. It looked as though it couldn't be done.

Then the Kind Lady took a hand and stirred things up. She had Parley the Parson make a little speech about it from his pulpit. She got on the right side of the proprietor of the motion picture show at the Town Hall. He made a special slide and on the screen was thrown the appeal headed—TWO WEEKS OF HAPPINESS! The next week this was repeated with the names of the people who were taking one child, the names of those who were taking two—all on the screen at the Town Hall.

Well, Jim, the result is that instead of 15 tenement children in Homeland we're going to have 45, and they are to be met at the station with decorated automobiles and music and bells of welcome! The Kind Lady has arranged for all that, too, and when they get here, Jim, I may write you something about the general doings.

quart bottle, adding the turpentine. Let it remain for 24 hours and shake the bottle well to mix the ingredients. Next day shake it well again, and fill the bottle with water.

Cement for Broken Glass. Plaster of paris mixed into a paste with white of egg makes a strong cement for mending broken glass or china. Another excellent cement is made as follows:

Press into a small bottle as much isinglass as will fit in. Then pour in by degrees unsweetened gin, which will gradually dissolve the isinglass if the bottle is kept in a warm place.

Cement for Paper Box. A good cement can be made by mixing powdered rice with a little cold water, slowly adding to it boiling water, till the right consistency is obtained. Then pour into a saucupan and boil for a minute.

This paste is almost transparent and can be used for paper work for a strong and colorless cement is required.

MAHOAGNY CLEANSER. Mahogany tables and desks are frequently disfigured by the appearance of white marks caused by the standing of hot dishes upon them without a mat to protect the mahogany. To remove the stains rub on a few drops of sweet oil and afterward polish with a little spirits of wine, using a soft cloth.

ALUMINUM CLEANSER. Dissolve 20 grammes of borax in water and a third as much ammonia as you have water. Shake well together, apply and polish until the white glittering effect is seen that is always on new aluminum articles.

BRASS AND SILVERWARE POLISH. Take half a cup of whiting and fill the cup with cold water. Pour this into a bottle and add one ounce of ammonia. Shake well before using. Dampen a flannel cloth with this mixture and rub the silver or brass.

Winifred Black FOLKS AND THINGS

The True Home Makers' Club—have you joined it? If you haven't you're a thousand years or so behind the times more or less.

What? You have a home and you make it, and you keep it, and it's a haven of rest to those who belong there and a little nook of peace and comfort and joy in the midst of this hurly-burly of a world.

You manage it yourself, you plan your meals and help to cook part of them, you make the children's clothes, you even make your own bread, and a cake or so now and then.

That has nothing to do with it, not a thing in the world.

You want to join the real Home-makers' Club, and find out a few things about yourself and your old-fashioned ways.

You've been wasting your life, just throwing it away as a reckless spend-thrift tosses away the money his father has so hard to earn.

What! Cooking, sewing, singing lullabies—why, the ideal!

You ought to have been making speeches and signing resolutions, and saying "Madame President," all the time, and then you would have known how to make a real home—by not making it at all.

The only way to have a real home is to think in the new Real Home Makers' movement—is to keep away from it as much as possible.

Have a community bake shop, and a community kitchen, and a community laundry, and a community nursery—dear me, I'm afraid they'll be having community husbands and community wives, the next thing we know!

EVERYTHING IS WORK. "You shouldn't waste time cooking for your children—you should keep yourself young and pretty so they'll love you."

"You shouldn't bother about what husband likes or dislikes for dinner, what he really needs is a lecture on the modern poets—study up, and be ready to deliver it to him when he comes home after a hard day at the office."

That's what the new idea teaches. Women have wasted themselves for years, they've made slaves of themselves, worn themselves out with drudgery—for what?

For an exploded theory and outworn scheme of civilization. Men don't want cooks and house-makers—they want companions and pals, some one to read to them, to talk to them, to play golf with them, to go joy riding with them.

Children don't want mothers—they want playmates. Learn to play ring-around-a-rosy and palm-palm-pull-away if you want to be a successful mother.

Don't drudge—dream! How nice it all sounds! Perfectly lovely, isn't it? Pretty clothes and a pretty home and nothing to do but look pleasant like the girl at the photographic—

What a lot of camouflage there is about this sort of thing. Are women really tooled by it, or do they just pretend that they are?

Drudgery? Why, the world's built up on drudgery.

What would happen to the woman of the race if the men should suddenly decide to stop drudging and lead the Beautiful Life as a matter of plain duty to their family?

Sombody has to work, somebody has to sacrifice and plod. Why should the men be the only victims?

Drudgery? I never can see any more drudgery in the baking of a big pan of perfectly good cookies than I can in working in an office all day.

What's the difference between setting the table and adding up a column of figures, when it comes to a matter of slavery?

Men who hate to drudge generally don't have much left to drudge for. Why should women regard homemaking as the one absolutely obnoxious kind of work in the world?

Work? Of course it's work—so is anything that's worth doing!

When then? Are we ladies of the field that we should expect to be supported in absolutely useless idleness? That's what the harem women expect—and what they get. Do we want to pay the price they pay?

True home makers—why, this country is full of them. And they don't have to belong to any kind of a league to convince themselves, and their families that they are earning a right to exist.

TRIBUNE'S DAILY ALMANAC

JULY TWENTY-SIX. EVERY DOGE HAS HIS DAY, AS IT WERE.

DEAR ALMANAC: I see by your paper that an Oakland machinist lays claim to the $25,000,000 fortune of the fifty-seventh Doge of Venice. May one venture the remark that after all a Doge life ain't so bad?

PISCES. The army having sold its surplus supply of prunes, the ex-doughboy asserts, "The army isn't such a bad place to be—NOW."

SHERMAN, IT SEEMS, WAS WRONG. Dear Crab: One year ago today the writer of these few lines was happily intoxicated in Montreux, Suisse, en route for Chateau Thierry. Backward, turn backward, O Time, in thy flight!

EX-DRAFTEE. ASK THE PUZZLE EDITOR. How can one believe what one sees in the papers when one runs up against such as these: "2.75 Beer is intoxicating, Court Rules."

"New York Roof Garden Prohibits Bare-Legged Ladies With or Without Escorts."

How can one? The Married State has never been admitted to the Union.

WISH I WAS A MILLIONAIRE. Wish I was a millionaire! many a time I've said it. Ownin' stocks an' bonds an' gold an' endless credit. Wish I was a millionaire! Then I chance to see one. An' I change my wish again. I don't want to be one.

Got one cornered yesterday, Lord, but he was funny! Acted like he was afraid I was after money. Talked a little 'bout the kids romping round us gladsome. Then he sighed an' looked away an' said he wished he had some.

Showed him round the yard a bit, with the roses growin'. Said he wished that now an' then he could work at hoein'. "Hired men do this for me, an' they do it badly!" Seemed to me with all his wealth he was talking sadly.

Then I took him in the house to get a look at mother. Dowed her an' shoot her hand like he was her brother. "Let me hold the baby now, tried, but couldn't stop him. Mother almost scared to death he was goin' to drop him."

Wish I was a millionaire! Never more I'll say it! There's a price men pay for wealth, an' I'll never pay it. Can't do things like common folks, have no kids to race with. Poor am I, but I don't know a rich man I'd change place with.

THIS AINT MY SUITCASE!

BOOZE!

There is something very grave troubling me," I said, "something which involves my father's life. But if I tell it to you, you must regard it as a confidence."

His black eyes glared steadily, intently at me.

"I give you my word of—"

he stopped with an almost imperceptible saturnine twist of his lips, and repeated impressively, "I give you my word."

"I accept it," I returned, convinced in spite of the slip he had made in answering me. I knew as well as if he had explained the matter to me that he had started to say "my word of honor," and had stopped in sheer self-loathing at the word "honor"—appalled to himself.

"Thank you," he returned, and he was a humbler, less the one wholly foreign to any phase of Harry Underwood I had ever known.

I cast about for words with which best to frame the story I had to tell him. As I did so the saturnine expression came up, and in her usual, detestable manner cleared away the dross of our meat course, preparatory to bringing our cheese and coffee. Then she stepped back to the table near us at which I had seen the imperious-looking woman. An instant later, while the opening words of my story still lingered on my lips, reluctant of utterance, I heard the clear, carrying voice of the woman at the other table:

"I usually give 10 cents, but I shall not give it to you."

REVELATIONS of a WIFE

by ADELE GARRISON

His tone was flippant, almost to the point of offensiveness. If I hadn't seen his face, unobserved by him, during the preceding minutes, I should have judged him harshly, but I saw his face, and the memory of his eyes, his pallor, made me certain that he was masking his emotion, as was always his wont, by badinage.

"Oh, nothing so drastic," I replied, smiling faintly. It was no part of my plan that he should suspect I dreamed him other than a patriot.

"But no person who refuses to rise can ever set his feet again."

He turned around in his seat and looked the manager over with careful scrutiny.

"Well, you've got to slip it to her," he said, when she turned toward me again. "She's sincere in her patriotism, it costs her something. A lot of these blatherers that are making all the money they can out of it. I don't mind them one way or the other, profiting by the war or doing the patriotic burrowing. It's the combination that gets my goat."

His face was flushed, his eyes unnaturally bright, his words vehement. I realized that there was some strong emotion beneath his words, guessed that he was trying to justify his own conduct by talking of the shortcomings of other men.

"When did you hear from your father last?" Harry Underwood asked abruptly.

I was on guard in an instant. I had been so occupied in trying to fathom the inner workings of his mind, especially since the incident of the playing of the national anthem and his ensuing comments, that I had almost lost sight of my conviction concerning his knowledge of my father's whereabouts. He had talked of everything and nothing with the charm he so well knew how to throw around his conversation, and in listening to him I had felt the old, half-repentant, half-attracted fascination with which this man's presence always affects me.

But this question was like the sudden blazing up of a pile of kindlings the flame clearing away the mists of thought through which I had been groping. One of the objects toward which my presence opposite him in the Fleur de Lis tea room constituted the first step was the unlocking of my father's fate, and of which I believed Harry Underwood to have the key.

It behooved me to answer his questions most warily.

I waited a long minute before answering. Finally, I decided that the truth was my best card.

"Not for a number of weeks," I said, quietly, and then countered with another question and an assertion.

"You must have seen him frequently when you were in South America," I said. "Was he all right when you saw him last?"

Did his brilliant black eyes waver ever so slightly as they met mine? Did he seem to me to hesitantly at my question? I wasn't sure, for when he answered me he was his usual self.

"WHAT'S THE REAL TROUBLE?" he seemed to be asking me. "I'm nervous and worried—as if something were troubling him," he replied.

I pondered the answer. It might mean just what it indicated on the surface, and on the other hand, the depths of treachery might lie beneath.

"What's the real trouble, little girl?" Harry Underwood's voice, soft, dangerously tender, sounded across the table. "You're uneasy about your father. I can help you. Won't you tell your Uncle Dudley all about it?"

I looked up into his eyes to find them so sweet, clear of all mockery. Kindness, sincerity looked out from them, and I longed to believe they weren't a mirage.

A sudden impulse came to me. It could do no harm, I reasoned, for me to tell Mr. Underwood the story of the anonymous clippings purporting to portray my father's horrible death as a spy, which had been sent to me by him had he not had the key to something which I didn't believe I was sure I could detect the fact, imperturbable as he was. On the other hand, if the clippings had been sent by Grace Snapper without the knowledge or sanction of my father, I felt instinctively that it would not injure either my father's cause or the work in which I was engaged with Lillian for him to learn of the dastardly scheme.

I folded my hands in my lap, for I could make no pretense of causing during the recital of the events which had so terrified me, and spoke slowly, meeting his eyes deliberately as I did so.

"There is something very grave troubling me," I said, "something which involves my father's life. But if I tell it to you, you must regard it as a confidence."

His black eyes glared steadily, intently at me.

"I give you my word of—"

THIRD TERM IS WORLD LEAGUE PLOT, CHARGED

By L. C. MARTIN
United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—That Senate Democrats are planning to make President Wilson a third term candidate was the declaration today by leading opponents of the League of Nations. They asserted the Democrats have carefully worked out a plan to create a situation that may be summed up thus:

They will create the impression throughout the country, by means of senate speeches, that opposition to the league is based on personal jealousy and partisan hostility to Wilson.

This will open the way for the claim that unless Wilson runs again and is re-elected the League of Nations will be ruined by the Republicans should they get control of Congress.

As proof of what one senator today called the "third term plot," Republicans pointed to the fact that Democrats who have spoken this week on the league have emphasized the charge that the President's opponents are jealous of his prestige and eager to see him down.

While the senate and the foreign relations committee remained idle today, preparations were made for renewal of the debate Monday. Further attacks on President Wilson because of his withholding the French treaty were expected.

League opponents also used the recess to discuss plans for countering the effects of the President's direct appeal to the country through a speaking tour. They are undecided whether they can spare men like Borah and Johnson from the Senate to make such a tour, but are agreed that some means must be found for replying to the President's arguments.

They, therefore, invite you most cordially and earnestly to address the bay communities in the Greek theater during your visit. This public meeting will afford you an opportunity of delivering a message to an audience of ten thousand."

CRITICS LIE IS PALMER DEFENSE

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Attorney-General Palmer, appearing before the Senate judiciary subcommittee to make final reply to charges put forth in an effort to prevent confirmation of his nomination, declared the whole fight against him was conceived and carried on by representatives of German interests because of his work as alien property custodian in breaking up the German industrial army in the United States.

Mr. Palmer made detailed denial of charges by Senator Frohman, Republican of New Jersey, regarding the payment of excessive fees to Senator Harris of Georgia and John J. Fitzgerald, a former member of the House from New York.

Starting off with charges by Harold Remington, a lawyer of New York, that Mr. Palmer should not be permitted as attorney-general to pass upon his acts an alien property custodian, the witness said Remington's complaint was not against him, but against the law passed by Congress.

U. S. Officer Is Married In Paris

Of interest to a host of friends in the bay region is the announcement of the wedding of Lieutenant-Commander Hamilton Bryan, U. S. N., son of Mrs. Prentiss Cobb Hale of San Francisco, and Miss Margaret Payne Luce who were married in Paris on Thursday. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry James Luce of New York. The parents of the bride were present at the ceremony as were a large number of American naval officers who went over from Russia for the wedding.

Lieutenant-Commander and Mrs. Bryan will spend their honeymoon in Normandy, planning to go to Germany for a few months visit later on.

Mrs. Bryan has been taking an active part in Red Cross work in France.

Ensign John C. Carlton of Brooklyn, N. Y., is visiting Ensign A. R. Euteau, son of Dr. Frank H. Euteau, who was recently released from the navy.

Miss Claire Bishop was hostess last evening at an informal affair at her home to which a group of young folk were bidden to dance. Among them were the Misses Beth Schilling, Ilma Tobriner, Lulu Kennedy, Lucille Brown, Miriam Elsworth, Helen and Hazel Brown, and Edward Enges, Harry Dunn, Cecil Burg, Donald O'Neill, Kenneth Larrier, Stanley Davies and James Pratt.

The departure of Mr. and Mrs. Beverly Burr Wilder, and family, the mother of the bride, will be regretted by a host of friends in the bay region. Mr. and Mrs. Wilder are leaving Piedmont where they have resided for the past few years, after making a long stay to make their home. Since their marriage a few years ago their home has been the scene of much entertainment.

Cards have been received announcing the marriage of Miss Sara Kloss, daughter of Rev. Charles Kloss, of the Plymouth Congregational church, to Captain Wolcott Paige Hayes, U. S. A., which took place in New Mexico, July 15. The wedding was the culmination of a house-party romance and was held at the Kloss country home in Hachita where the family have been passing the season. Captain Hayes and his bride are expected in the bay region shortly where they will visit for a few days before sailing for the Philippine Islands, where the officer is to be stationed.

Among the members of the East-bay smart set who have gone to Santa Barbara to enjoy a few days' outing on the beach are Mrs. Mark Requa and her daughter, Miss Alice Requa, who left yesterday, Mrs. Isaac Requa to follow later.

Water With Meals Does Not Delay, But Helps Digestion

(Johns Hopkins University.)
DR. LEONARD K. HIRSHBERG
A. B., M. A., M. D.

Although it has been known these many years that water drunk with your meals aids the digestion of many foods that might otherwise be difficult to digest, new researches, according to Prof. P. B. Hawk, amply confirm this knowledge.

To be sure, Jeshurun and others who wax fat, ought not to imbibe of sparkling aqua pura at meals, for it is evident that Falstaff may become waterlogged if meats are mixed with drink.

Not only are your rations more completely digested, but the imbibed water causes these better digested products to be absorbed thoroughly and quickly into the blood and tissues.

Moreover, he who takes several glasses of good water simultaneously with his todder helps to keep bacteria, harmful foods, the necessary peck of dirt and other poisons more dilute and more easily dislodged by the "peristaltic" or worm-like motion of the stomach and intestines.

Odd to tell and contrary to theory, a glass of good water before dinner or breakfast does not wash away the "powers of digestion." Quite the contrary, it promotes the entrance of pepsin, hydrochloric acid and the other digestive juices from the membranous walls of the stomach into this bread-basket proper.

Obviously, water before meals is like an invitation to the dance. It makes for the pleasures and success of digestion. The more water you drink before and at the table the better your tissues will appreciate the assistance given. For it is a fact, verifiable at the laboratories, that absence or deficiency of enough fluid in the stomach and intestines causes an immediate and continuous withdrawal of liquids from the blood and tissues themselves, thence to be emptied into the food chan-

DR. PHILLIPS TO BE HEARD ON "LAW OF SELF"

Rev. C. W. Phillips, pastor of the Tenth Avenue Baptist church, will concentrate his efforts on the Sunday morning service tomorrow.

In the evening service, Dr. Phillips is asked to hear Dr. Briggs in the union meeting at the Eighth Avenue Methodist church.

In the morning Dr. Phillips theme will be "The Law of Self." Versus the Law of Christ. Dr. Phillips will endeavor to show that brute selfishness is the curse of the world, using the word "self" not in a crude or offensive sense but with its true biological meaning, characteristic of the brute, love of self makes the awful holocaust of blood that we find in the animal world and that forms the basis of the story which Tennyson portrays as "The Charge of the Light Brigade."

The law of altruism which is destined to redeem the world and which reaches the highest attainment of sublime expression in the Christ of Calvary, has its roots in the mother instinct of the human race, and even the wolves and honesees. This cosmic instinct which leads the human race to the love of the human race, but only the Christ love can lead the human race to the love of the world.

What is the matter with the labor situation and with our civic movement? Dr. Phillips will endeavor to show that the trouble with the labor situation is not the matter with the man, but the matter with the woman. What is the matter with the woman? Dr. Phillips will endeavor to show that the trouble with the woman is not the matter with the woman, but the matter with the man. What is the matter with the man? ## BE STILL

Be still and sweet, the Master never meant That you should fret and strain, All power is yours, a gift from Heaven sent And free to all as healing summer rain.

Be still and sweet if you would learn to know This wondrous power that dwells within your soul Be sweet and still, and in this stillness grown The will, that takes you to your longed for goal.

Be still—for naught was ever really done Except in stillness, hush your feverish soul, And in the quiet work till you have won Your life's desire, full, complete and whole.
